9 ROBERT ALBERTAZZI AND NOELLA
10 ALBERTAZZI, AS TRUSTEES OF THE ALBERTAZZI FAMILY TRUST,

11 Plaintiff,

12 v.

13 TERI A. ALBERTAZZI; JOHN D.
GRIESINGER; and DOES I-X, inclusive,

14 Defendants.

Case No. 3:17-cv-00703-MMD-WGC

ORDER

15
16 I. SUMMARY

17 Before the Court is Defendants Teri A. Albertazzi and John D. Griesinger's
18 ("Defendants") Motion to Dismiss ("Motion"). (ECF No. 4.) The Court has reviewed 19 Plaintiffs Robert Albertazzi and Noella Albertazzi's amended response.¹ (ECF No. 10.) For 20 the following reasons, the Court denies Defendants' Motion.

21 II. BACKGROUND

22 Plaintiffs Robert and Noella Albertazzi transferred $220,000 to their daughter, 23 Defendant Teri Albertazzi, in the summer of 2009, and the parties now dispute whether 24 the money was a loan or a gift. According to Plaintiffs, the money was a loan. Defendant

25 ¹The Court has not considered Defendants' reply (ECF No. 12) because it was not 26 timely filed. "The deadline to file and serve any reply in support of the motion is seven 27 days after service of the response." LR 7-2(b). Plaintiffs filed both their initial response 28 (ECF No. 8) and amended response (ECF No. 10) on December 22, 2017. Defendants filed their reply on January 5, 2018, fourteen days later. Accordingly, the Court denies as moot Plaintiffs' Motion to Strike (ECF No. 13) and Motion for Leave to File Sur-Reply (ECF No. 14).

1 Teri² allegedly asked to borrow money to purchase a home in Tucson, Arizona (“Arizona 2 Property”) on June 21, 2009. (ECF No. 10 at 2.) Plaintiffs then transferred a total of 3 $220,000 to her from the Albertazzi Family Trust (“Trust”), of which Plaintiffs are both 4 trustees. (Id. at 3.) Plaintiffs allege that “Defendant Teri agreed to repay Plaintiffs [the 5 $220,000] and agreed that the Arizona Property was Plaintiffs’ security for the loan.” (Id.)

6 According to Defendant Teri, the money was a gift. Plaintiff Robert “delivered into 7 the Tucson, Arizona escrow a written statement saying that all monies he provided 8 towards the home purchase were a gift and that there was no expectation of repayment.” 9 (ECF No. 4 at 3.) Defendant Teri alleges that Plaintiff Robert “did not request, and did not 10 receive, either a promissory note or security interest in the [Arizona Property].” (Id.)

11 Defendant Teri began to send $400 monthly payments to Plaintiff Robert in 12 September 2009 and increased the monthly payments to $500 in September 2010. (ECF 13 No. 10 at 3.) The parties dispute the reason for Defendant Teri’s conduct. According to 14 Plaintiffs, Defendant Teri began making payments because she had promised to repay 15 the loan. (See id.) According to Defendant Teri, she began sending money to her father 16 because he called to “tell her that he was experiencing financial difficulties” and “requested 17 that she send him money in whatever amounts and at whatever intervals she was willing.”
18 (ECF No. 4 at 3.)

19 Defendant Teri allegedly executed a promissory note (“Note”) several years later, 20 on February 6, 2014, formally obligating her to repay the then-principal of $201,200. (Id.)
21 Plaintiffs attached the Note to their complaint, and it appears to bear a signature reading 22 “Teri Albertazzi.” (ECF No. 1-3 at 13.) The Note contains two clauses that are important 23 to this dispute. The first is an acceleration clause: “This Note will be repaid in consecutive 24 monthly installments of $500.00 each on the fifth of each month commencing the month 25 following execution of this Note until the Lender has provided the Borrower with written 26 notice of demand and the balance owing under this Note will be paid within 30 day(s) of 27 ²The Court will refer to the parties by their given names because many of them 28 share the surname Albertazzi.

1 any such notice of demand.” (Id.) The second is a choice of law clause: “This Note will be 2 construed in accordance with and governed by the laws of the State of Nevada.” (Id. at 3 14.)

4 Defendant Teri’s husband,³ Defendant John, allegedly executed an addendum to 5 the Note (“Addendum”) obligating him to pay the debt in the event of Defendant Teri’s 6 death. (ECF No. 10 at 4.) Plaintiffs attached the Addendum to their complaint, and it
7 appears to bear a signature reading “John Griesinger.” (ECF No. 1-3 at 15.)

8 Defendants dispute the authenticity of the Note and Addendum, contending that 9 they did not sign these documents. (ECF No. 4 at 3.) They have provided affidavits in 10 support. (ECF Nos. 4-1, 4-2.)

11 Defendants allegedly sold the Arizona Property in June 2016 and used the 12 proceeds from the sale to purchase a house in Boise, Idaho (“Idaho Property”). (ECF No.
13 10 at 4.) Defendants allegedly did not inform Plaintiffs about the sale until January 31, 14 2017. (Id.) Plaintiffs then sent Defendants a revised promissory note with Defendant’s 15 Idaho Property listed as security for the balance of the loan. (Id. at 4-5.) Defendants 16 allegedly refused to execute the revised promissory note. (Id. at 5.) Plaintiffs then issued 17 Defendants a written demand for payment in full pursuant to the Note’s acceleration 18 clause. (Id.) Defendants allegedly breached the terms of the Note by failing to pay the 19 Note in full. (Id.)

20 Plaintiffs filed this action in Nevada state court alleging claims for breach of 21 contract, money had and received, unjust enrichment, and fraudulent concealment on 22 November 14, 2017. (ECF No. 1-3 at 3-11.) Defendants removed based on diversity 23 jurisdiction. (ECF No. 1.) Defendants now move to dismiss the action for lack of personal 24 jurisdiction, or in the alternative to transfer venue. (ECF No. 4 at 1.)

25 ///

26 ///

27 ³Defendant Teri married Defendant John Griesinger in 2012 in Stateline, Nevada.
28 (ECF No. 10 at 4.) Plaintiffs do not contend that Defendant Teri’s visit to Nevada for the wedding grounds general jurisdiction. (See id. at 9.)

1 III. LEGAL STANDARD

2 In opposing a defendant's motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, a 3 plaintiff bears the burden of establishing that jurisdiction is proper. Boschetto v. Hansin, 4 539 F.3d 1011, 1015 (9th Cir. 2008). Where, as here, the motion is based on written 5 materials rather than an evidentiary hearing, "the plaintiff need only make a prima facie 6 showing of jurisdictional facts to withstand the motion to dismiss." Brayton Purcell LLP v.
7 Recordon & Recordon, 606 F.3d 1124, 1127 (9th Cir. 2010) (internal quotation marks 8 omitted). The plaintiff cannot "simply rest on the bare allegations of its complaint," but 9 uncontroverted allegations in the complaint must be taken as true. Schwarzenegger v.
10 Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 800 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting Amba Mktg. Sys., Inc.
11 v. Jobar Int'l, Inc., 551 F.2d 784, 787 (9th Cir. 1977)). The court "may not assume the truth 12 of allegations in a pleading which are contradicted by affidavit," Data Disc, Inc. v. Sys.
13 Tech. Assocs., Inc., 557 F.2d 1280, 1284 (9th Cir. 1977), but it may resolve factual 14 disputes in the plaintiff's favor, Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy, 453 F.3d 1151, 1154 (9th Cir.
15 2006).

16 IV. DISCUSSION

17 A two-part analysis governs whether a court retains personal jurisdiction over a 18 nonresident defendant. "First, the exercise of jurisdiction must satisfy the requirements of 19 the applicable state long-arm statute." Chan v. Soc'y Expeditions, Inc., 39 F.3d 1398, 1404 20 (9th Cir. 1994). Since "Nevada's long-arm statute, NRS § 14.065, reaches the limits of due 21 process set by the United States Constitution," the Court moves on to the second part of 22 the analysis. See Baker v. Eighth Judicial Dist. Court ex rel. Cty. of Clark, 999 P.2d 1020, 23 1023 (Nev. 2000). "Second, the exercise of jurisdiction must comport with federal due 24 process." Chan, 39 F.3d at 1404–05. "Due process requires that nonresident defendants 25 have certain minimum contacts with the forum state so that the exercise of jurisdiction 26 does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice." Id. (citing Int'l Shoe 27 v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310, 316 (1945)). Courts analyze this constitutional question with 28 reference to two forms of jurisdiction: general and specific jurisdiction.

1 A. General Jurisdiction

2 General jurisdiction in this case requires that Defendants engage in continuous and 3 systematic general business contacts that approximate physical presence in Nevada.
4 CollegeSource, Inc. v. AcademyOne, Inc., 653 F.3d 1066, 1074 (9th Cir. 2011). “The 5 standard for general jurisdiction ‘is an exacting standard, as it should be, because a finding 6 of general jurisdiction permits a defendant to be haled into court in the forum state to 7 answer for any of its activities anywhere in the world.’” Id. at 1074 (quoting
8 Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 801). “To determine whether a nonresident defendant’s 9 contacts are sufficiently substantial, continuous, and systematic, [courts] consider their 10 ‘[l]ongevity, continuity, volume, economic impact, physical presence, and integration into 11 the state’s regulatory or economic markets.’” Id. (quoting Tuazon v. R.J. Reynolds 12 Tobacco Co., 433 F.3d 1163, 1172 (9th Cir. 2006)).

13 Plaintiffs argue that this Court has general jurisdiction over Defendants because 14 Defendant Teri mailed monthly payments to Plaintiffs’ mailing address in Stateline, 15 Nevada. (See ECF No. 10 at 9.) The Court disagrees based on the Ninth Circuit Court of 16 Appeals’ decision in Kransco Mfg., Inc. v. Markwitz, 656 F.2d 1376 (9th Cir. 1981). In 17 Kransco, a California corporation (“Kransco”) initiated a patent infringement action in 18 California against Bernhard Markwitz, a citizen and resident of West Germany, relating to 19 an inflatable pool toy sold by Markwitz’s company. Id. Markwitz did not maintain an office, 20 home, or personnel in California, though he mailed several letters to Kransco charging it 21 with infringement of his patent. Id. Markwitz also visited California to attend a trade show 22 for swimming goods manufacturers where his company promoted and took orders for the 23 inflatable pool toys. Id. The Ninth Circuit summarily declined to find general jurisdiction: “It 24 is clear that appellee Markwitz has not engaged in ‘substantial’ or ‘continuous and 25 systematic’ activities in California so as to invoke general jurisdiction.” Id. Like Markwitz, 26 Defendant Teri sent mail to the forum state, but Defendant Teri’s mail constitutes even 27 less significant contact than the letters Markwitz sent. Defendant Teri sent payments,

28 ///

1 whereas Markwitz sent letters describing legal duties and risks. Accordingly, the Court 2 holds that Defendant Teri's payments do not form a basis for general jurisdiction.

3 B. Specific Jurisdiction

4 Specific jurisdiction exists where "[a] nonresident defendant's discrete, isolated 5 contacts with the forum support jurisdiction on a cause of action arising directly out of its 6 forum contacts." CollegeSource, 653 F.3d at 1075. In the Ninth Circuit, courts use a three-7 prong test to determine whether specific jurisdiction exists over a particular cause of 8 action: "(1) The non-resident defendant must purposefully direct his activities or 9 consummate some transaction with the forum or resident thereof; or perform some act by 10 which he purposefully avails himself of the privilege of conducting activities in the forum, 11 thereby invoking the benefits and protections of its laws; (2) the claim must be one which 12 arises out of or relates to the defendant's forum-related activities; and (3) the exercise of 13 jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, i.e., it must be reasonable."
14 Id. at 1076 (quoting Schwarzenegger, 374 F.3d at 802). The first prong, alternatively called 15 purposeful availment or purposeful direction, is often determinative. See Yahoo! Inc. v. La
16 Ligue Contre Le Racisme Et L'Antisemitisme, 433 F.3d 1199, 1206 (9th Cir. 2006) (en 17 banc). In addition, the party asserting jurisdiction bears the burden of demonstrating only 18 the first two prongs. CollegeSource, 653 F.3d at 1076 (citing Sher v. Johnson, 911 F.2d 19 1357, 1361 (9th Cir. 1990)). If it does so, the burden shifts to the party challenging 20 jurisdiction to set forth a "compelling case" that the exercise of jurisdiction would be 21 unreasonable. Id. (quoting Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 476-78 (1985)).

22 Plaintiffs have demonstrated the first element by alleging that Defendants 23 consummated a transaction with residents of Nevada—execution of the Note and 24 Addendum. (ECF No. 10 at 7.) Although Defendants contend that they never signed the 25 Note or Addendum and provide signed affidavits in support (ECF No. 4-1 at 3; ECF No. 4-26 2 at 2-3), the Court resolves this factual dispute in favor of Plaintiffs. Pebble Beach, 453
27 F.3d at 1154; see also Data Disc, 557 F.2d at 1285. Having resolved this factual dispute

28 ///

1 in favor of Plaintiffs, it is clear that Defendants consummated a transaction with residents 2 of Nevada.

3 Plaintiffs have also sufficiently demonstrated the second element—that their claims 4 arise out of or relate to Defendants’ forum-related activities. Plaintiffs allege four claims 5 against Defendants: breach of contract, money had and received, unjust enrichment, and 6 fraudulent concealment. (ECF No. 1-3 at 7-10.) Each of these claims arises from or relates 7 to obligations and liabilities imposed by the Note and Addendum.⁴

8 Plaintiffs have carried their burden of satisfying the first two prongs. Accordingly, 9 the burden shifts to Defendants to set forth a “compelling case” that the exercise of 10 jurisdiction would be unreasonable. CollegeSource, 653 F.3d at 1076. In determining 11 reasonableness, the Court must consider: (1) the extent of Defendants’ purposeful 12 injection into the forum state’s affairs; (2) the burden on Defendants of defending in the 13 forum; (3) the extent of conflict with the sovereignty of Defendants’ state; (4) the forum 14 state’s interest in adjudicating the dispute; (5) the most efficient judicial resolution of the 15 controversy; (6) the importance of the forum to Plaintiffs’ interest in convenient and 16 effective relief; and (7) the existence of an alternative forum. Dole Food Co., Inc. v. Watts, 17 303 F.3d 1104, 1114 (9th Cir. 2002). The court must balance and weigh all seven factors; 18 none is dispositive. Ziegler v. Indian River Cty., 64 F.3d 470, 475 (9th Cir. 1995).

19 The first, fourth, fifth, and sixth factors weigh in favor of retaining jurisdiction, while 20 only the second and seventh factors support dismissal.⁵ Regarding the first factor, 21 Defendants sought to avail themselves of the protections of Nevada law when they 22 executed the Note and Addendum containing (or incorporating by reference) a Nevada
23 choice of law provision. Regarding the fourth factor, Nevada has an interest in adjudicating 24 the dispute because enforcement of the Note and Addendum will involve interpretation of

26 ⁴Even if one of the claims did not relate to the Note or Addendum, this Court “may 27 exercise pendent personal jurisdiction over any claims that arise out of the same common nucleus of operative facts as the claim for which jurisdiction exists.” Picot v. Weston, 780 F.3d 1206, 1211 (9th Cir. 2015) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted).

28 ⁵The third factor does not weigh clearly in either direction because there are no significant sovereignty concerns.

1 Nevada law. Regarding the fifth factor, such a dispute is suited to the most efficient judicial 2 resolution in Nevada because courts in Nevada are more familiar with Nevada law than 3 those that are not. Regarding the sixth factor, resolution of this dispute in Nevada is 4 important to Plaintiffs because they reside in Nevada. Only two factors support dismissal.
5 Defendants wish to litigate in Idaho because they reside in Idaho, and Idaho is a possible 6 alternative forum. Defendants have not presented a “compelling case” for declining to 7 exercise jurisdiction. Accordingly, the Court finds that specific jurisdiction exists.

8 C. Transfer

9 Defendants request to transfer venue to Idaho under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1404(a) and 10 1406(a). (ECF No. 4 at 11.) However, § 1406(a) allows a court to dismiss or transfer a 11 case only where the case lays “venue in the wrong division or district.” For example, courts 12 have used § 1406(a) to dismiss or transfer a case where the parties removed to the wrong
13 district court, LNV Corp. v. STK Financial, LLC, C 11–00025, 2011 WL 4345193, at *2
14 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 14, 2011), or where the court finds improper venue under Rule 12(b)(3), 15 Ambriz v. Coca-Cola Co., 13-cv-03539, 2014 WL 296159, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 27, 2014).
16 Neither of those situations is present in this case. Defendants further argue for transfer 17 under the factors that are considered in a § 1404(a) analysis. The Court thus considers 18 Defendants’ motion pursuant to § 1404(a).

19 A district court “may transfer any civil action to any other district or division where it 20 might have been brought” for the “convenience of parties and witnesses” and “in the 21 interest of justice.” 28 U.S.C. § 1404(a). “The purpose of this section is to prevent the 22 waste of time, energy, and money and to protect litigants, witnesses and the public against 23 unnecessary inconvenience and expense.” Amazon.com v. Cendant Corp., 404 F. Supp.
24 2d 1256, 1259 (W.D. Wash. 2005) (citations and quotation marks omitted).

25 Motions to transfer venue involve “an individualized, case-by-case consideration of 26 convenience and fairness.” Jones v. GNC Franchising, Inc., 211 F.3d 495, 498 (9th Cir.
27 2000) (internal quotation marks omitted). “A motion to transfer venue under § 1404(a) 28 requires the court to weigh multiple factors in its determination whether transfer is

1 appropriate in a particular case.” Jones, 211 F.3d at 498. “For example, the court may 2 consider: (1) the location where the relevant agreements were negotiated and executed, 3 (2) the state that is most familiar with the governing law, (3) the plaintiff’s choice of forum, 4 (4) the respective parties’ contacts with the forum, (5) the contacts relating to the plaintiff’s 5 cause of action in the chosen forum, (6) the differences in the costs of litigation in the two 6 forums, (7) the availability of compulsory process to compel attendance of unwilling non-7 party witnesses, and (8) the ease of access to sources of proof.” Id. at 498-99. “[T]he 8 presence of a forum selection clause is a ‘significant factor’ in the court’s § 1404(a) 9 analysis.” Id. at 499. The burden of proof is on the moving party. See, e.g., id.; Commodity 10 Futures Trading Comm’n v. Savage, 611 F.2d 270, 279 (9th Cir. 1979).

11 Each of these factors either weighs against transferring venue or does not weigh 12 clearly in either direction. The first factor does not weigh clearly in either direction because 13 it is unclear where the agreements were negotiated and executed. The second factor 14 weighs against transferring venue because the Note and Addendum are governed by 15 Nevada law. The third factor weighs against transferring venue because Plaintiffs filed 16 their original complaint in Nevada state court. The fourth factor weighs against transferring 17 venue because Defendants have had sufficient contacts with Nevada to ground specific 18 personal jurisdiction. The fifth factor weighs against transferring venue because the claims 19 in this case arose out of Defendants’ contacts with Nevada. The sixth factor does not 20 weigh clearly in either direction. Defendants contend that witnesses to the purchase of the 21 Idaho Property are located in Idaho, but Defendants have not explained why witnesses to 22 the purchase of the Idaho Property will be important to this litigation, particularly given that 23 the crux of this lawsuit is whether the money at issue was a loan or a gift. The seventh 24 factor does not clearly weigh in either direction—it is not clear that witnesses related to 25 the purchase of the Idaho Property will be important to this litigation. The eighth factor 26 does not clearly weigh in either direction. The conflict between the parties centers on the 27 validity of the Note and Addendum. While Defendants would have to travel from Idaho to 28 Nevada to testify in person about the Note and Addendum, Plaintiffs would bear a similar

1 burden if the case were transferred to Idaho. Finally, the presence of the Nevada choice 2 of law clause weighs against transferring venue (though not as much as a forum selection 3 clause that expressly indicates where the dispute should be resolved). Accordingly, the 4 Court denies Defendants' request to transfer venue.

5 V. CONCLUSION

6 The Court notes that the parties made several arguments and cited to several cases 7 not discussed above. The Court has reviewed these arguments and cases and determines 8 that they do not warrant discussion as they do not affect the outcome of the motion before 9 the Court.

10 It is therefore ordered that Defendants' Motion to Dismiss (ECF No. 4) is denied.

11 It is further ordered that Plaintiffs' Motion to Strike (ECF No. 13) and Motion for 12 Leave to File a Sur-Reply (ECF No. 14) are denied as moot.
